How Do Students Use Whispy?

1. Hold one end of Whispy to the mouth and the other to the ear – just like a telephone!
2. Read in a barely audible whisper.
3. Hear the amplified sounds through the earpiece to self-check, self-correct, and self-assess.

How Does Whispy Make Reading a Multi-Sensory Learning Experience?

Visual Learning: Students invoke their visual senses as they look at and process the letters, words and paragraphs in the reading material.

Kinesthetic Learning: The sense of touch is involved as the student holds Whispy to the ear and mouth, feeling the sound as it travels through Whispy.

Auditory Learning: As students read in a barely audible whisper, the sound is amplified through Whispy, creating increased auditory awareness. This immediate feedback allows children to correct mispronounced words, and ultimately build reading proficiency and confidence in reading aloud.
